Dear Mrs. Sadowski,

I regret very nuch that my age and the state of my health preclude my engaging in the corresponsence you would like.

It may not have occared to you, but writers write books to answer people's questions.

Some people write books for other reasons, too, and when they are not accurate or when they advance seemingly reasonable theories the reader is the captive of those authors.

Thus you can believe that you have really engaged in research while you may have been reading what is not factual and often is worse that that.

"nd that may not be research.

I do appreciate the kind things you said very much.

Thanks and best wishes,

Harold Weisberg
